

About OPFI

Olympic Peninsula Fishing Innovations (OPFI) is a small 501(c)3 non-profit organization that designs and produces unique and adaptive devices that allow individuals with physical limitations to participate in fly fishing and fly tying. After meeting with individuals unable to enjoy these activities due to a lost limb, trauma, or brain injury, OPFI was formed and the Evergreen Hand and Casting Partner were developed.

We believe fly fishing and fly tying are relaxing activities that hold recreational and therapeutic value and can help someone battling PTSD, depression and hopelessness by healing the mind, body and spirit. Every day individuals start therapy after a stroke, accident, breast cancer recovery or work-related injury affects their ability to function. OPFI's products bring independence, peace and a little fun to those facing a challenging recovery.

Casting Partner

The Casting Partner is a wearable device that allows an individual to cast and fish with one hand or one arm independently. It assists in performing the functions of the line hand, allowing tying of knots, managing fly line, as well as fighting and landing a fish.

Your free Casting Partner kit includes:

- Accessories for putting the device on, changing flies & netting a fish
- Line clippers and forcep tools
- Link to instructional video online

Evergreen Hand

The Evergreen Hand is an accessory that converts a traditional vise into a one-handed fly tying tool. Fly tying involves fine motor skills of the hands and fingers. The device has helped some regain mobility and dexterity by reinforcing traditional methods of physical therapy. Other recipients enjoy the creative opportunity to craft fishing flies.

Your free Evergreen Hand kit includes:

- Magnetic materials clip, a tool to capture/hold hair and a soft loop tool
- Link to instructional video online
- Requires vise with standard 3/8" diameter stem (not included)

"Every once in awhile, a product comes out that has all the right tools for success. As soon as I used the Casting Partner for the first time, I knew the creators were on to something.... The compact size and ability to wear with a vest or pack makes the Casting Partner easy to use on long full days on the stream."
